“ Robin's years as the chef at Shrine Mont were a wonderful treat. We will never forget the vegetable animals he created for the numerous children (and we adults) at our large and boisterous yearly reunions. So many of his recipes are still used and continue to bring all of us pleasure. His joy was infectious.

“ Steve and I will always remember Robin when after a late night we were headed to the Emswiller's cabin in ice and snow and could barely make it up the last hill. We all got out to reduce load and Robin slipped slightly under the car. As we looked at each other in fright thinking fearing he slipped under the car, he popped up like a balloon and stood non-chalantly like nothing happened. Laughed for hours. Will never forget.

“ I communicated with Robin the past few years as a fellow writer. I admired the openness and honesty of his memoir. He was such a good writer. My daughter, Tracy, and he were in the same class and asked me to send loving sympathy to the family. Libby Stoner Grandy
