“Carroll gave many of us our intro, and start, in the business of commercial banking, in the '70s. He inspired us to become better people, and as a result, better bankers. He was a top performer, and led by example. He was unselfish with his time, and patient as we learned the art of financial advisory. I'm forever indebted to him for the valuable lessons he taught. He led a very productive, and, I hope, happy life. He was most proud of his son Ian and his family. God Bless, and RIP Carroll!”
