“ Patrick, Patricia, Frances, Jody and Jana, how blessed you've been to have had Dora so long in your lives. My memories of visiting the farm as a youngster, getting to know my cousins, taking in the beauty of the mountains and the valley, are still vivid in my mind and truly cherished. While our visits along the way have been way too few and too far between, please know that they've been special to me, just as they became to Debbie, Sara and Sandra. Through all that time, Dora was there, just being herself and making things feel right. I've come to realize it was Dora's presence that most made the experience what it was. All of you, each in your own way, helped Leah get through her toughest times following Sullivan's accident and, believe me, it meant the world to her. Dora's friendship and support, especially at that time, meant so much to Leah and I've loved Dora all the more because of it. It's pleasing to know that you were able to help Dora remain in the old house until the end of her life. Debbie, the girls and I think of you often and, of course, we think of Dora. Take care of yourselves and love each other.
