

Florence "Flossie" Rose Fritz Taylor

January 13, 1922 - December 15, 2018

FLORENCE ROSE FRITZ TAYLOR ("Flossie") passed away on December 15, 2018, at Pine Meadow Assisted Living in Woodstock. Flossie was born in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania on January 13, 1922, the daughter of Lawrence Ramey Fritz and May V. Perry. She grew up in Philadelphia and married Stanley A. Taylor, with whom she shared her life until his death in 1995. She was employed as a Bank secretary for several years and then worked for the William Penn Foundation until her retirement. She and her husband then moved to Woodstock where they made their home for many years.

Flossie served as a volunteer at Shenandoah Memorial Hospital, was a member of the Hospital Auxiliary, the local chapter of the Eastern Star, and a member of the First Baptist Church in Woodstock. She loved people and enjoyed visiting with others, going out to eat, and was a familiar face at Ben's Diner and Candy's Diner. She loved children, clothes with sparkle, butterflies, and all Holidays.

She was predeceased in death by her husband, brother, and two sisters. She is survived by a niece, several cousins, and the many friends she made while living in Woodstock.

She will be returning home to Philadelphia to be interred with her husband, Stanley. A memorial service will be held 2:00 p.m. December 29, 2018, at Valley Funeral Service in Bowmans Crossing. Pastor Darryl George will officiate.

“ I grew up at First Baptist Church and have fond memories of Flossie and her ever-present butterfly pins.

I only met my cousin Flossie once but liked her immediately. I commented on her butterfly pin. She was my Grandmother's niece. I wish we had lived closer and I had gotten a chance to have known her better
