“ I was Holly's nurse at UVA infusion. We talked about the Lord all the time. When she had found out some devastating news, she asked for me. We talked about running the race for the prize for the high calling. The prize is Jesus. We talked about her being the runner that comes in early as she claims the prize earlier than expected, but the crowd stands to cheer her on as she beats the others to the finish line. I am here cheering for Holly, the winner of the prize of Jesus Christ. For us, it is way to early, but in God's timing, she ran the race well and is now perfected! She was such a blessing to me, and I can't say enough how much I will miss her joyful self! What a wonderful person that concentrated on God's Word. Her yoga was God's gift to get her through this time as she carefully planned the meditation of God's Word. He is faithful!

“I have so many memories of Holly. She gave me joy like no one could. She loved getting starts from my flowers, enjoyed my cooking and especially my rolls. Was so full of life and love. I am blessed to have had her in my life. Holly lit up my life and I will always be thankful for that. She was like a daughter to me.
