“ First off, I don't know what to say, we would go months without talking and then one of us would reach out. My heart will miss him as he called me his pappy, we joked about almost everything and he was proud when he got a job. I meet this man on FB as a Denny Hamlin fan and after a few races we became friend. When I attend a Richmond race, he was all beside himself that I took the time to hunt him down. I knew you had health problems and with life in general. God bless you and may you enjoy the peace the Lord had given you

“ I loved Matthew more than anything and even though we had our differences I was still his wife and he made sure he pointed out to me all the time he was still my husband. We both loved each other over half of our life and regardless of who liked it or didn't like it, that's the way it was. I will miss him blowing my phone up every other day. Just know we will be together again one day. I love you forever and a day.

“ I am late in posting this because it took me a while to wrap my head around this. While Matt and I were not very close in school, we did have classes together and shared a few laughs during lunch. Matt was the kind of person who was easy to talk to and he always had a smart comment to make that either made you mad or made you laugh. I guess it depended on your mood as much as his. My deepest condolences to his family. It know it is never easy to lose a loved one. May you find peace in the days and weeks ahead. May you find strength in the love of friends and family. Stonewall Jackson High School Class of '93 will certainly miss him. May he rest in peace.
