“ Since I've known Bobby, I've come to the realization that God chooses unassuming people to do his greatest work. When I think of all those people whose lives he has touched in his uniquely unselfish ways, I ponder how a man short in physical stature has stood so tall among the giants. Giving is Bobby's legacy from birth until his welcome home. He is an example of what all of us could and should be. My life has been touched and influenced by this man I call a dear friend and I will forever carry his memory forward. May God bless each of you in the Wymer family I am so proud to know!
